Football Viewed as Tonic in Soft Age

Character Building Takes Place on Athletic Field, Says Harman

SPEAKS AT MEN'S GROUP

"The softer an age is, the greater is the need for a virile game like football," said Harvey J. Harman, head coach at the University of Pennsylvania, in the course of a talk before the James C. Simpson Men's Association of the Baptist Church on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Harman's talk, which was enthusiastically received by a large gathering of men and boys of the Borough, was supplemented by a unique demonstration of football tactics by Stanley Sokolis, captain of the Penn team, and George Munger, varsity halfback.

Pointing out that character training of youths was being left more and more to the school and church, Mr. Harman emphasized his belief that football is here to stay. Whereas the home was formerly the scene of character building, he said, it is becoming the pre-occupation of the school, and it is the athletic field that plays the biggest part.

"When the boys are out on the field," he said, "they lose their own identity in working for the interests of the team. It is not all fun practicing every day throughout the football season, and there are plenty of times when the going is tough, but the fellows learn that you have to keep going regardless and this develops a moral quality which is mighty hard to learn in the classroom or anywhere but in a strenuous competitive sport."

The demonstration by Sokolis and Munger, clad in football togs, gave the gathering a good idea of some of the more intricate fine points of football. Methods of blocking, charging, falling on the ball, shifting the ball, avoiding tacklers, etc., were demonstrated by the players with the assistance of two boys from the audience.

The movies of last Fall's Penn-Cornell game shown by Mr. Harman prior to his talk, covered practically the entire period of actual play. Aside from a tendency toward faintness at times, the pictures gave a vivid picture of the game, illustrating Cornell's famed off-tackle play to perfection, both when it worked as it should and when it failed. The one touchdown of the game was also clearly presented.

It was announced that W. Curtis Bok would be the speaker at the April meeting of the Men's Association and his subject, "The World Court."

Legion B. & L. to Open 27th Stock Series Tuesday

A new stock series—its twenty-seventh—will be opened by the Narberth American Legion Building and Loan Association at its meeting next Tuesday. Meetings are held 7 to 9 P. M. the first Tuesday of each month at the Narberth Coal Company office.

Both single and double shares will be available for subscription, either at the meeting or from any officer or director.

The association matured its first single stock series in January, when checks were sent holders of 277 shares for a value of $55,400.

Officers are Alexander C. Shand, Jr., president; Isadore A. Miller, vice president; Harry A. Simpson, secretary; Horace T. Smedley, treasurer, and Walter M. Burkhardt, solicitor.

Directors in addition to the above are Edward Davis, Maurice B. DuMarais, Ralph S. Dunne, James W. Follin, William H. Fowler, Harry A. Jacobs, J. L. McCrery, Carl B. Metzger, John A. Mowrer, Jr., Henry T. Nash, Jr., A. C. Shand, Jr., Fletcher W. Stites and William H. Durbin.

L. M.-Narberth Council to Elect Officers Tuesday

The Lower Merion-Narberth Council of Republican Women will hold a luncheon and annual meeting for the election of officers on Tuesday at 1 P. M. in the lecture room of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, 116 East Lancaster avenue, Ardmore.

The Ladies' Aid of the Lutheran Church will serve the luncheon. The tickets are 50 cents. Mrs. W. R. Russell Green, of Narberth, is the hostess. Those desiring reservations telephone Mrs. Green, Narberth 2267.

The speaker for the afternoon will be Mrs. John Y. Huber, Jr., of Haverford, whose topic will be "Current Political Events." Members are privileged to bring guests.

Pants Seek Owner

A new pair of boy's pants, judging from the size, probably his first, are awaiting their owner at the Narberth Post Office. The pants were found on the street recently and turned over to the post office authorities to locate the owner. It is to be hoped that the young man for whom they were intended has not had to be confined to the house for lack of them.

Music and Sketches Feature Community Club Meeting

The Women's Community Club of Narberth held its regular meeting on Tuesday afternoon in the Girl Scout wing of the Community Building.

The Lyric Trio, composed of Miss Ernestine B. Bacon, soprano; Miss Florence Haenle, violinist, and Miss Dorothy Power, harpist, featured the program, opening with "Spring Song," by Mendelssohn, and "I Pass By Your Window," by Bray.

This was followed by a humorous monologue entitled "The Photograph," in three scenes, by Frances Leedom Hess, who later in the program also gave two more sketches—"A Scene on the Seashore" and "A Hasty Decision," both delightfully humorous.

Miss Power played several numbers on the harp, which included a medley of well-known selections, with "The Song of the Volga Boatmen" as a finale.

Miss Bacon, to the accompaniment of the harp, sang "L'Amour Toujours L'Amour," "Sylvia" and "The Morning Star," the latter two by Oley Speaks.

The program was brought to a close by the presentation by the trio of "The Midnight Bells."

Tea was served, with Mrs. R. A. Mizner as hostess.

The literary group of the club will meet next Tuesday afternoon at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Caryl E. Starr, 151 Merion avenue, at 1.30 P. M. Mrs. Wesley R. Carlson will review "The Way of a Lancer."

On this Saturday evening the members of the club will be the hostesses to the men of their families at a party in the clubrooms at 8.30. This is a get-together party for the husbands of the members, and each and every one is promised a jolly time. There will be cards and other games. Instructions in bridge will be given each Thursday afternoon in the Community House for club members and their friends. Mrs. E. C. Town is the chairman.

The next regular meeting of the club will be held on April 12 at 2.30 P. M. in the Community House. The program will be in charge of the health and civic committees. Full details will be announced later.

Mulieres to Give Card Party and Luncheon Wed.

The members of the Narberth Fire Company are giving a luncheon to be followed by a card party on Wednesday in Elm Hall at 1 P. M. The tickets are 50 cents.

For reservations phone the ticket committee—Mrs. Eberhardt Mueller, president, Narberth 3883—Mrs. Lloyd B. Edgerton, Miss Anna Foley or any member of the following committee: Chairmen for the cards, tallies and tables, Mrs. Edward Haws and Mrs. Howard Haws; refreshments, Mrs. Lindley Trotter, Mrs. Frank X. Purcell, Mrs. William Rodgers, Mrs. Isaac McHose and Mrs. George Michener; cakes, candies and nuts, Mrs. Clifford Bates and Mrs. Henry Kast; chairmen of the donation of movie books, Mrs. John Burrell, Mrs. George Gilpin, Jr., and Mrs. Charles Haist; chairmen of dishes, Mrs. Charles Vigners, Jr., Mrs. Charles E. Harnden and Mrs. C. C. Tyson.

All the members of the committees are working hard to make this a successful event, and everyone is cordially invited to attend.

The supper for the active members of the fire company will be held on April 21.

Meeting on Disarmament

The Pennsylvania Committee for Total Disarmament will hold an open meeting on Monday, April 11, at 8.15 P. M., at the Bellevue-Stratford. The speakers will be Frieda A. Lazarus, of New York, who recently returned from the Disarmament Conference at Geneva. Her topic will be "News From the Disarmament Front." Frank A. Schrepper, of Narberth, past commander of the Harold D. Speakman Post, will speak on the topic, "A Soldier Looks At War," and Dr. Sidney E. Goldstein, of New York, Executive Chairman of Unemployment, who will speak on "Our Part in the World Disarmament." There is no charge and the public is cordially invited.

Junior Club Rally Held at Bala-Cynwyd

Interesting Program Attended by Sixty Girls From County

NARBERTH A HOSTESS

The Narberth Juniors are holding another subscription card party at the home of Miss Margaret Livingston, on Chestnut avenue, this Thursday evening.

On Monday evening a large Junior Rally of the whole county organization was held at the Bala-Cynwyd Juniors' Club. Mrs. Ellsworth Clark, president of the Narberth Juniors, and Miss Margaret Kent, one of the Program Chairmen, were delegates from Narberth, and reported a very delightful evening.

Approximately sixty Juniors attended in spite of the severe March winds blowing a gale outside.

The meeting was in charge of Mrs. Louis Cornish, of Collegeville, chairman of the Montgomery County Juniors. The State Junior song, composed by the Bala-Cynwyd Juniors' president, Miss Dorothy Babb, was sung by the girls to open the rally, and the stirring words inspired everyone to further enjoyment of the good things which followed. Miss Finley, president of the Glenside Juniors, spoke on "Junior Work and Its Recognition." The two important state projects of the Junior Clubs are Girl Scout activities and Braille. The furthering of the Girl Scout work is under the direction of Mrs. John A. Frick, former State President, of Allentown, Pa. The Juniors are asked to assist in Scout work by furnishing trained leaders and by sponsoring Girl Scout Troops.

The Braille Work is under the leadership of Mrs. R. Maurice Snyder, former State Junior Chairman, whose home is in Chestnut Hill. For three years the Juniors have contributed to a Braille Fund, a voluntary assessment of 10c per capita being asked to help in this work. Books printed in Braille by the Pennsylvania Juniors from 1931 on are "The First and Second Books of Modern Verse," by Anne Rittenhouse; "The Black Camel," by Earl Derr Biggers, and "An Appreciation of Poetry," by Max Eastman. In 1931 the girls made a contribution of $1000 to help publish "The Outlook of the Blind in Braille."

Miss Finley reminded the girls of how important a part good programs played in keeping a club alive and interested, and also stressed the value of having a permanent, attractive place of meeting. Mrs. Patterson, first vice-president of the County, spoke a few words to the girls in the absence of Mrs. White, County president. Mrs. Williamson, president of the Women's Club of Bala-Cynwyd, greeted the girls, asking them to feel at home in their Club House—impos-

Win at Bridge

Several members of the Women's Division of the Narberth Bridge Club played in the Bridge Tournament at the Wissahickon Contract Bridge Club last Thursday evening, with Mrs. J. E. Wetzel and Mrs. Howard Simpson, of Narberth, winning top score north and south, and Mrs. J. H. Baker and Mrs. H. W. Hurling, also of Narberth, winning top scores in east and west. Mrs. E. C. Griswold and Mrs. Joseph Berta were second in the north and south scoring. These members of the club, who are the pupils of Mrs. Horace I. McConnell, of Merion avenue, played against the pupils of the Wissahickon Class teachers.

Lucille Douglass to Lecture on "Far Eastern Gardens" at Bryn Mawr College on Monday

An illustrated lecture on "Far Eastern Gardens" will be given by Lucille Douglass on Monday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock in Goodhart Hall, Bryn Mawr College. It is under the auspices of the Bryn Mawr Chinese Scholarship Committee.

Miss Douglass, an extraordinarily interesting lecturer, is also an etcher and painter of distinction. She has spoken before the National Geographic Society, the China Society, the League for Political Education and a number of other distinguished groups in this country, as well as under the auspices of the India Society in London.

Her etchings were on view at the French Colonial exhibition in connection with the replica of the temple of Angkor-Wat. These etchings were made for the French Government.

She exhibited her work under the auspices of the Bryn Mawr Chinese Scholarship Committee some years Noted author and economist, who will speak on "The End of an Epoch," at Goodhart Hall, Bryn Mawr College, on Monday evening, April 11.

Narberth Players Working on Season's Final Production

The next meeting of the Narberth Players' Club will be held at the home of Mrs. Joseph Aiken, Iona and Windsor avenues, on Tuesday evening.

Details will be arranged for the next performance of the Club, the final one of the season, to be held also at the Narberth School Auditorium, where the four one-act plays were so successfully rendered last month. The coming production will be held Friday night, May 13, very appropriately—for it is to be "The Thirteenth Chair." This mystery story, super-mysterious, given on the professional stage with great success, calls forth the talents of a large cast, for there are sixteen players to have parts. With the Club membership at almost the 60 mark, it will not be difficult to cast the play, but will rather present the opportunity for new players to make their bows—as well as for old-timers of the present season to take on some additional applause.

If you are a subscriber to the Narberth Players, your membership card permits you to see this performance without additional expense; if you are not, a small amount (in proportion to the entertainment offered) will give you a place in the audience. Narberth Players' productions thus far have been marked by fine attendance and greeted with great enthusiasm by local audiences and by visiting guests of distinction—so almost everyone is anxious to be among those present upon the occasion of another offering. Remember the magic number "13" and you will have the date and the title—May 13—and Friday at that!—the spooky, thrilling "Thirteenth Chair" will be yours for the seeing.

Lutheran Ladies' Aid Plans Sauer Kraut Supper the 14th

The Ladies' Aid Society of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, Narberth, will hold a sauer kraut supper in the basement of the church on Thursday, April 14. Supper will be served from 5 to 8. Tickets are fifty cents each and may be obtained from various members of the Ladies' Aid Society or at the door on the night of the supper.

The supper promises to be no exception to previous affairs of a similar nature, which have always been characterized by the high quality of the food served and the sociable atmosphere which prevailed. The support of the community in this affair will be greatly appreciated.

Dr. Beury Advocates Political Education

America Needs Statesmen Prepared for Leadership, Rotarians Are Told

MANY LAWS ILL-ADVISED

"Education in this country, as it applies to producing men trained for larger problems, is a disappointment." So stated Dr. Charles E. Beury, president of Temple University, in his talk before the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club Tuesday.

Dr. Beury took as his topic "Education and the World's Unrest." In his talk he pointed out the lessons to be gleaned from the stock market debacle of 1929 and the resulting depression.

"The stock market crash, which followed an orgy of gambling, squeezed $26,000,000,000 of water out of stock values," he said. "That in itself was a good thing, but it went further than that. Fifty billions in real values went with the other and brought the effect of the crash down upon millions who were in no way responsible for it."

"We have been following false gods. The Machine Age has run away from us, and sooner or later we must realize that money is not the index of happiness. Most wealthy men I know are not happy."

"Despite our national opportunity we seem to have gone to seed through lack of prepared leadership. With one-sixteenth of the world's land surface and one-seventeenth of the population, we control half the commerce, finance and manufacturing, a great percentage of the raw materials and six or seven times the automobile output of the rest of the world combined."

"The United States is the least safe of all countries today. We have passed 250,000 laws in 20 years, many ill-adviced and many unenforceable. As a result we are not responsive to the mandate of law."

"In this country we shun politics, and thus the young men are not properly prepared for a career of statesmanship. In England the better class of young men prepare at Oxford and Cambridge to take over the reins. The present situation in Congress demonstrates the need of a better class of statesman."

Dr. Beury closed his talk with a brief review of the career of Dr. Russell H. Conwell founder of Temple. During his lifetime, the speaker pointed out, Dr. Conwell earned over $6,000,000, every cent of which was devoted to public good.

Narberth Girl is Named Outstanding Temple Senior

Miss Elma L. Reese, 219 Hampden avenue, Narberth, has been cited as one of the 15 outstanding members of the senior class of Temple University. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Howard Reese, and is a student in the Department of Secondary Education, Teachers' College, and will be graduated in June. She was graduated from Lower Merion High School in 1928.

Aside from her scholastic record, Miss Reese is one of the most active co-eds on the Temple campus. She is president of the Magnet Honorary Society; president of the Secondary Education Club; president of the Teachers' College Senate; treasurer of the Women's Athletic Association; track and hockey manager, and member of the Historical Honorary Society. She was secretary of the Magnet Society in 1930 and 1931.

Along with 14 other seniors, Miss Reese has been recommended for special recognition in the Templar, the senior class year book.

Welfare Conference the 11th
"Present Day Problems of Health Agencies" will be the subject of a round table session in connection with a welfare conference to be held in the Bryn Mawr Presbyterian Church on Monday afternoon, April 11.

Dr. W. W. Comfort, president of Haverford College, will preside at the luncheon which will open the conference. The day's program is under the joint auspices of the Council on Social Welfare of Montgomery County and the Delaware County Welfare Council.

Annual Meeting the 11th
The annual meeting of the Life members and contributors of the Bryn Mawr Hospital will be held at the Hospital on Monday afternoon, April 11, at 4.50 o'clock.

Contests Loom for Boro Political Posts

Independent and Organization Candidates Seek Committee Nomination

COOKE OPPOSES NOEL

Efforts to unite Narberth Republicans under the Organization banner have reached an impasse with the result that there will be contests for the posts of committeemen and committeewomen at the Spring Primaries on April 26.

The Independent faction, under the leadership of Fred Walzer, have put candidates in the field in the first and second districts in opposition to the present committeemen and women who are the Organization representatives, while in the third district, the Independent candidates are unopposed.

Charles V. Noel, Johnson lieutenant and committeeman in the Borough for over 20 years, is opposed in the first district by Arthur L. Cooke, former Legion commander. Likewise in the first district, Mrs. Louise V. Cockrill, present committeewoman and organization worker, will be opposed by Mrs. A. C. Miller, Independent candidate for the post.

In the second district, the organization committeewoman, Mrs. Maud K. Reeves, is opposed by Mrs. Louise Town, and George O. Schroder, present committeeman, who is backed by the Independents, is unopposed.

With the removal from the Borough of the organization committeeman, William W. Fretz, from the third district, the Independent committeewoman, Mrs. Margaret Griswold, and new Independent candidate for committeeman, Herbert A. Barton, are unopposed.

Whether the failure of Republicans to agree on committeeman and committeewoman selections is an indication of continued hostility between the Organization and Independent political workers in the Borough is a matter for conjecture. It has been rumored, however, that the two groups have been unable to decide on a leader who will be acceptable to both.

Indications point to a determined effort by Organization workers to turn out a majority vote in the Borough for the County Republican Organization candidates at the Spring Primary.

Three Scouts of Troop 2 Pass Second Class Tests

The boys in the Narberth Boy Scout Troop, No. 2, are working hard for higher honors. Three more boys recently passed their second class tests—Tom Dunlap, Bob Rowley and Roll Phillips. Another second class scout, Blair Albrecht, was recently transferred from the Wynnewood troop.

It looks as if some of the younger boys might give the old timers a hard battle for first class honors. Certainly there isn't a boy in the troop who is letting the grass grow under his feet.

A representative of the Bell Telephone is expected to give the boys a demonstration in life saving some time in April. The boys are also looking forward to a meet of the Main Line Troops at the Merion Tribute House on Saturday afternoon, April 30.

Stuart Chase to Speak at Bryn Mawr College, April 11th

Stuart Chase, noted economist, will deliver a lecture on "The End of an Epoch," at Goodhart Hall, Bryn Mawr College, on Monday evening, April 11.

Mr. Chase is the author of many volumes dealing with the economic problems of modern civilization. Among them are "Prosperity, Fact or Myth," "Men and Machines," "The Nemesis of American Business" and "Mexico."

Quarterly Meeting Tuesday

The Women's Auxiliary of the Baptist Church of the Evangel will hold its quarterly all-day meeting at the church on Tuesday. White Cross at 10.30 A. M., to be followed by a devotional service at 12 noon, conducted by Rev. Robert L. Keighton, pastor of the church. At 2 P. M. Miss Mabel Hall, a returned missionary from China, will give an address. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Miss Dillon to Speak

Miss Frances Dillon will be the second speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Lower Merion-Narberth Council of Republican Women, on Tuesday, April 5, at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, 116 E. Lancaster avenue, Ardmore. She will give a short talk on "The Main Line Gardens for the Unemployed."

Local Movies

"Union Depot" Here

This Friday and Saturday nights the Narberth Theatre is playing "Union Depot," interesting tale of several people whose life-paths cross in a railroad station. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Joan Blondell are aided by a fine cast. Also on the week-end bill is a Laurel and Hardy comedy.

For Saturday's matinee the theatre will give Buster Keaton's funniest comedy, a hit of years' standing: "Steamboat Bill, Jr." Also Rin-tin-Tin in "The Lightning Warrior."

Fredric March, John Barrymore's rival for screen popularity, does an interesting bit of acting in the talking version of Stevenson's classic, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." Miriam Hopkins lends her beauty to the performance, which, like "Frankenstein," is a thriller, not recommended for people who are subject to nightmares.

One of the six most popular releases of February is "High Pressure," in which the suave William Powell has a good role.

At the Egyptian

Good comedy enlivens "Lovers Courageous," in which Robert Montgomery and Madge Evans appear at the Egyptian this Friday and Saturday nights. Recommended for the family are the accompanying short subjects: "Spooks," a "Flip the Frog" comedy, Bill Tilden in a tennis subject, and Thelma Todd and Zasu Pitts, the female Laurel and Hardy, in "War Mamas."

"Husband's Holiday," at the Egyptian next Monday and Tuesday, stars Clive Brook, Vivienne Osborne and Juliette Compton.

The large fan following of Ann Harding and Adolphe Menjou will see them both in "Prestige" at Cynwyd Wednesday and Thursday.

"The Passionate Plumber," coming next week-end, is a comedy so unrestrainedly funny that it would be worth seeing more than once. Its cast includes Buster Keaton, Jimmy ("Schnozzle") Durante and Polly Moran.

Baseball Series at Narberth

The first of weekly series of five short baseball subjects will be presented at the Narberth Theatre this Friday and Saturday. Eddie Collins will tell this week of the 1932 Athletics. Next week-end Mickey Cochrane will tell why he thinks the "A's" will repeat. The pictures were taken at the Athletics' and Phillies' training camps this spring, and give interesting views of the teams in action.

OTHER BUSINESS BITS

The new A & P store opened last week on Haverford avenue. Increased shopping activity was noted in the section, from which progressive shopkeepers nearby on Haverford avenue expect to benefit. The large new store occupies what was until recently the Narberth Hardware building. The manager is Larry Altman, a Narberth resident, who won the promotion as a result of his service in the Atlantic & Pacific store at 248 Haverford avenue. That store, once John A. Miller's roofing headquarters and before that home of the Narberth Fire Company, is now being prepared for opening as the Narberth Hardware Company. Proprietor is Ezekiel Ralston, manager for several months of Colonel A. A. Kiesler's store, whose stock and good-will he has taken over.

V-8 and new 4—Walter B. Richards and Harry H. Fisher are at last able to tell about the new Fords that before long will be seen in their show room, at 273 Montgomery avenue, Cynwyd. They saw them at the Ford Chester plant Tuesday.

Invitation to visit the General Motors national exhibit is extended by Christian Kirsch, of the Kirsch Chevrolet Company, Bala-Cynwyd and Narberth distributor. From April 2 to 9 there is a showing at the Philadelphia Convention Hall, and also a private showing at the Cynwyd salesroom, Bala avenue above the Egyptian.

Much interest has been aroused among motorists by R. Roy Kessinger's advertising of Firestone tires, at his Sunshine Service Station, Montgomery and Narberth avenues. He says several have already been sold to motorists who became convinced that Firestones, at no greater cost, are better tires than ones offered by a mail order house which is competing with Harvey Firestone's products.

A paint demonstration at W. H. Haws' hardware store, 241 Haverford avenue, commences this Saturday. A can of enamel will be given free with each 50c purchase, and in addition customers are invited to bring any small article to be dipped or painted, free of charge, as a demonstration of Wetherill products.

Jig Saw Puzzles

Jig saw puzzles are the latest fad, according to Gene Davis, of the Davis Store, who has just obtained some, ranging from 100 to 500 pieces. They beguile the time of stay-at-homes and are fun for extra guests or for non-bridge players (if there be any such). It is said they work their way insidiously into bridge parties for the use of extras and dummies, and, the first thing you know, everyone has discarded the cards and is helping fit together the pieces.

Annie E. Kerbaugh

One of the oldest residents of Narberth, Annie E. Kerbaugh, wife of the late Joseph S. Kerbaugh, 308 Essex avenue, died on Sunday at the age of 94 years.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday at her late residence. Mr. Wilbur, a former pastor of the Baptist Church of the Evangel, of which she was a member, and the Reverend Robert E. Keighton, pastor of the church, conducted the services. The interment was at West Laurel Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Kerbaugh was born in Salem, N. J., and was the daughter of the late John and Rebecca Tuft. She is survived by her daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth K. Goodwin, who resided with her and Mrs. Charles S. Kremer, of 200 Essex avenue, and six grandchildren and 8 great grandchildren.

Mrs. Kerbaugh lived on the Main Line for more than 30 years and was the mother of the late Joseph O. Kerbaugh, who, for a number of years, was president of the Lower Merion Township Board of Commissioners and a director of the Narberth National Bank.

L. M. High School Notes

By BILL MACAN

Those Seniors who expect to go to Washington on the Annual Trip held a special meeting last Wednesday. At this time it was learned that 130 boys and girls expect to make the trip by way of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Early on the morning of Thursday, April 14, the group will embark on the journey at Ardmore. A complete tour of Washington will follow the train ride, which will end up at the Hotel Driscoll on Thursday evening. Each evening, after the various tours to the interesting points in and about the city, festivities will be held in the hotel and at one of the Washington theatres. Saturday will be taken with the trip home, by way of Annapolis. Here, the group will inspect the buildings and view one of the Cadets' full dress parades. From the Naval Academy, a surprise trip is being planned to finish up the day. Then, back again to Ardmore, the group will return, laden with souvenirs and trophies and cherry blossoms (?), simple souvenirs of an excellent excursion.

At that meeting of the group, more good news was announced. All those who sold tickets to the Senior Play will receive toward their trip twenty-seven cents for each fifty-cent ticket sold.

In a recent assembly, letters were awarded to members of the girls' and boys' basketball teams. Those who received letters were: Mary Jane Poorman, Polly Mitchell, Ruth Kohlhas, Harriet Hisler, Alice Edwards, Helen Unger, next year's captain; Anne Hodgeman, Jessie Maltby, Peggy Walzer, Gladys Sabrovitch, Peggy Warner and Peggy Fox; Jack Hinchey, Roy Williams, Herb Thomas, Sturgis Poorman, Ray Stanley, Ralph Grace, Franklin Taly, Bill Ramsey, Emmett Wynne.

'Time Out'

By TOMMY MACKLIN

Bill Anderson, gentle, suave, and kindly to all and sundry, lets no blade of grass grow under his feet. Keen-minded and alert to all the possibilities that present themselves along basketball lines, has started his 1932-33 season already. Fifteen or twenty of his boys who will don the Maroon and White silken cloth next winter and fight for Fair Merion and all that goes with it, have been waging a steady fight among themselves for first-line berths which will be open around Christmas time.

Included in this number are a few of the Junior High boys who received renown and some glory for their fifteen consecutive victories in the junior loop this past winter. With a lull in active sports, bad weather, etc., the lads have taken the opportunity to work out under Bill Anderson's ever-watchful eye each afternoon.

Practice games have been staged with many teams, such as West Philadelphia High, teams in the city church loops, Haverford Prep. School, Haverford Township teams and Main Line Church League teams. In all of the games Anderson's boys show considerable promise for next season's "come-back."

Over at South Ardmore, where the Haverford High boys live and breathe, there has been considerable activity also along lines similar to things basketball. Herby Good's activities in township sports has kept the boys keenly interested in the winter sport, and many of the high school boys who will wear the livery of Haverford High next winter have been working out steadily on teams through the medium of scheduled and practice games. The Brookline Boys' Club is made up of future and present high school players who will give the Maroon and other Suburban teams plenty of competition in coming years. These boys have developed a fine and proper sense of basketball fundamentals and will develop into formidable players as the years roll around.

The State basketball tournament is an excellent thing, this column thinks. It promotes a healthy outlook on the sport, and makes for unified methods in eligibility rules, thereby making a more sporting contest out of the annual affair. Boys in the eastern section of the State learn much about methods of play in the Pittsburgh district and vice versa. The players learn to know the coaches, their ideals and coaching methods, about the players on the other teams; and the trips, though sometimes short, are an incentive to higher standards of conduct, eligibility, and team play.

Tournament play demands more of a player and a team than regular league competition. A team may rest in league competition and emerge the ultimate winner, but tournament play demands the best and the most in each and every game. To slow up along the wayside means the wayside permanently for that team. To advance a team must win. That means a high degree of concentration and the experience fits boys for harder battles later on.

The Main Line League is over for the season. A well-balanced, evenly matched group of teams, consisting of good players who can take it and hand it out without murmuring and complaining. Coaches would have few worries if they could have all players who can "take it." Ask any one of them. "Beggars" have no place in the modern sports program, and the rapid play and high standards of most teams elevate his style and his outlook or he drops out.

Maroon Faces Upper Darby in Baseball Opener Tuesday

Lower Merion starts the baseball season next Tuesday against Upper Darby, an almost annual winner of the baseball diadem. Neither team has had opportunity to get in shape due to the weather.

Coach Edgar Whistler, newcomer in the sport at L. M., will handle the reins this season, succeeding Anderson as mentor. Vic Newborg has first call as catcher thus far, with competition from some newcomers. With Brennan, Wynn, Tanner and Boutillier back the infield seems to be in pretty fair shape. Thomas and Smith will probably do most of the hurrying this year. Thomas is captain and will play the outfield when not pitching.

Lachman Rinehart, senior, is the heavy bombardment for the team and plays the outfield. If he keeps his eye on the ball he will help the team considerably this year. A natural heavy hitter, his home-run hitting ability is a thing that the team has been needing.

lectures and exhibitions, various aspects of China—cultural as well as political.

Started by some Bryn Mawr alumnae 15 years ago, this committee, composed of both men and women, has brought five Chinese students to Bryn Mawr who have more than justified the theory on which the committee was founded. Each of the students has gained for herself a sympathetic comprehension of Western civilization, and in her turn has given to many of her fellow-students their first contact with Eastern thought and culture.

Among the speakers brought to Bryn Mawr by the committee are Amy Lowell, Alfred Sze, Chinese Ambassador, and Dr. George Vincent, director of the Rockefeller Foundation.

The executive committee of the Bryn Mawr Chinese Scholarship Fund includes the following: Miss Marjorie LaMonte Thompson, chairman; Miss Mary Peirce, secretary, and Mrs. Richard S. Francis, treasurer; Miss Eleanor O. Brownell, Mrs. James Chadwick-Collins, Mrs. Herbert Lincoln Clark, Miss Lucy Martin Donnelly, Mrs. George W. Childs Drexel, Mrs. Charles B. Dudley, Miss Alice G. Howland, Mrs. C. Townsend Ludington, Mrs. Frederick J. Manning, Mrs. Charles J. Rhoads, Miss Mary Christine Smith, Miss Martha G. Thomas and Mrs. Joseph Wasserman.

Henry A. Wunnenberg

Henry A. Wunnenberg, of 207 Elm terrace, Narberth, died on Monday following an illness of two years. Funeral services and interment were held in Baltimore on Wednesday. Mr. Wunnenberg, who had lived in Narberth for the past 12 years, was in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad until two years ago.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Nora Wunnenberg, and his daughter, Mrs. Carl D. Grace, with whom he made his home.

sible not to do in such attractive and tasteful surroundings. Miss Julia Compton, of Ambler Club, spoke on behalf of the Braille work, telling of the great needs of the blind for the comfort of reading. The cost of printing one book in Braille is from $600 to $1000—so the work goes on but slowly, in spite of many generous gifts. In Mrs. Cornish's address to the club members present, she announced that no major project would be taken over by the girls as a whole this year, due to the financial status of all clubs being very low, but she hoped that each club would continue its individual good work to as great an extent as was possible.

The speaker of the evening was the Rev. "Jack" Hart, whose teachings among the students at the University are well known. Mr. Hart began by telling of his enthusiasm for the foregoing talks about the blind and Braille work. He said he believed God created each one as an individual and that we must each do the thing we feel called upon to do. One of the most important things in life is health and as a safeguard to health it is important that we follow the laws which nature decrees are best for us. Mr. Hart deplores the modern tendency of youth toward greater freedom, which is not always in the best interests of health, citing late hours, smoking and drinking among both sexes, as being harmful to strong and robust constitutions. Build up toward old age—don't build away from youth, was the purpose behind Mr. Hart's words. Each year one lives should be richer in happiness and contentment, and it is in the power of each of us to make ourselves at 80 understand life more fully, deeply, and happily, than at 18.

A social hour followed, when ice cream and cake was served, the Bala-Cynwyd and Narberth groups acting as hostesses.

The next Club meeting is April 7, at which Mrs. Patterson, of Cynwyd, will speak on "Worthwhile Books." The meeting will be held in the Scout Room of the Community Building.
